NOVEMBER IN SUMMARY

By Gwen R.

Normally November would begin with our Club Weekend away, but again this year we had to forgo this due to Covid Restrictions.

In lieu we finally got to go the Monash Gallery of Art, after three aborted attempts. The current exhibition was The Bowness Prize along with VCE student work. We followed this up with a lunch in the fantastic gardens surrounding the gallery. This gave us a great opportunity to meet one of our new members in person.

The Monthly Competition of “Unusual Viewpoint” was judged in house by myself, J.P. and Linda. As my first time judging, it was more than a little daunting critiquing the images of my fellow club members. However, as it turned out, it was quite a rewarding experience and I don't think we offended anyone. The fact my photo is Image of the Month is purely coincidental, really!

Due to bad weather, we did cancel our field trip to Ricketts Point, hoping to reschedule but so close to the End of Year, we have decided to against another field trip. I was hoping to offset the disappointment by our return to the hall but unfortunately, I incorrectly put December instead of November in an email and the hall was unavailable. But all was lost as we just set up in the carpark and held our Portrait Lighting Instruction there. Thank you to Mario and Jarod for their help in difficult circumstances. Of course, this is all part of my cunning plan to be ousted as President.

The 2022 Syllabus, is almost ready to be revealed, with the obligatory “Subject to Change”. There are a few events we will not be able to confirm until next year, but we will lock them in asap.

Redlands Camera Club Webinar

By Andrea

On 13 November CPS members were invited by Redlands Camera Club to an online event.

The guest speaker was Arik Gorban, and his session covered Infrared Photography.

Arik's talk was really informative and easy to follow, not too technical. He covered topics including equipment required, best camera set up, camera conversion and Infrared camera lens filters options. He shared some of his editing tips using Photoshop. (I apologise as I don't use Photoshop and can't remember them, but I'm sure Google will help you)

He also advised that the best time to take photographs is at noon on a sunny day! While this would be a 'no no' to most photographers, he explained it was necessary to achieve the best results. He did share some of his gallery with us, and his photos were truly stunning.

Head-On Potato Festival – LR/PS Webinar

As part of the festival, there were several on-line events, one of which was on the recent Lightroom and Photoshop updates.

Even though the presenters went through everything at speed, the new Masking available in Lightroom is amazing. I had played around with it by after listening to Julieanne Kost run through the changes I realised there was a lot more to it than I originally thought. You can see her tutorial from her webpage, link below.

I tried to keep up with everything on Photoshop but as I said, the presentation was superfast, and my basic knowledge is limited, so I got left behind quite quickly. You can see her Photoshop Tutorials here;

Tony H. has been given a Canon EOS 500 with Lens and Bag by a friend. If anyone is interested in trying some film Photography let me know and I'll put you in contact with him. The camera will require a new battery but otherwise it appears to be in good working order.
