As has been the way for the last two years, we had to forego another planned field trip and hold a virtual one in lieu. This time we set a topic of Architecture and our members did not disappoint with their images, some of which I have shared on the following pages.

The Advice and Discussion Night was well attended this month, maybe as we had nothing better to do, or (and this is my hope) people are starting to get something out of them. As we had around 20 people, we were able to use the Breakout Rooms to focus on Specialist subjects (and in Landscape some politics). Being able to utilize this feature really does enhance the nights, so thank you to everyone who attended.

For the Judging our “Give me the Night” competition we welcomed back Adrian Whear, who at his first ever judging last year did a magnificent job. He did not disappoint again this year with his helpful critiques. This turned out to be one of the harder topics to get images for this year due to the various lockdowns and curfews that have been in place.

The Committee also met for the last time before the A.G.M. next month, getting the set subjects for 2022 ready to announce and setting the agenda for the night. More information about the A.G.M. can be found on page two.

Lastly, we have the pleasure of Philips brother, David Bassett, speak to us about his bird photography. He gave a comprehensive run down of his approach to bird photography, covering equipment, settings and the patience required. He shared some of his amazing images with us and explained the story behind many of them.

Annual General Meeting

October – 25th

If you wish to run for any Committee Positions for 2022, please advise Sharni or Gwen before the A.G.M.

As of publishing of this Newsletter, all members of the Committee have agreed to stay on, however we are looking for the following;

1. Vice President – with a View to take over the role of President at 2022 A.G.M.
2. Assistant Secretary – with the view to assume Secretary Role in the future.

Club Competitions

Due October 11th – Unusual Viewpoint

Present an image which explores a familiar theme or subject in an unusual way. Possibilities would be odd or unexpected camera angles, forced perspective and non-traditional focal lengths for a subject, but these are only suggestions. Let your imagination go wild.
